Call the East Coast of the United States what you like: the Eastern Seaboard, the Atlantic Coast or the Atlantic Seaboard. It is diverse in melding of people from throughout the world or native born, accents to denote where they abide, industry abounds and scenery is vast or quaint. Fourteen States join this area of 2000 miles of coastline (even though Vermont and West Virginia does have a coast) including New England: Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut. The Northern States include New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, and the Southern States are Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. Don't forget Washington, DC; the capital of the US but not a State. Trees of many colors, snow capped mountains stand tall, sand dunes, rise from the Ocean and sandy beaches make for easy access to the Atlantic. There are even crocodile and alligator swamps! Ski, swim, hike, shop or drive along the entire Atlantic coast on I-95. Arrive by plane at one of the many of the largest American airports. Hip. Relaxing. Share life of the US by meeting Mickey Mouse, museums in abundance, sample England as the Americans have interpreted it. With all its DIVERSITY there is a place for everyone on the East Coast of the United States.
